Scam Ends – US/NATO Loses In Ukraine – Right On Cue The Next Pandemic

Project Ukraine which transferred $billions from the public of the US and its vassals to the parasitical globalists is drawing to a close. Cue the replacement scam another pandemic to transfer $billions to the same parasitical profiteering gangsters.

The next pandemic will also serve as a distraction to prevent the ever gullible public from looking too closely at pandemic no 1 (COVID) or who profits from US/NATO's proxy war.

Note how professor Dr Trisha Greenhalgh also a member of the group Independent SAGE and advocate of a return to mask wearing lunacy admits that she hasn't a clue about the data.

"it looks like" ... how very scientific and evidence based.

My various science WhatsApp groups are buzzing. Genetic lineage clips and diagrams flying back and forth. I understand little of the detail but it looks like it's once again time to MASK UP.

Here comes the 'real deal'! Scientists raise alarm over new Covid variant and call for return of face masks

- Virus trackers say the variant has already been spotted in Denmark and Israel
- The strain has yet to be officially named but has already been dubbed BA.6
- Experts believe the variant could have over 30 mutations in its spike protein

Fears of a fresh Covid resurgence were today heightened after the discovery of a new variant thought to be the 'real deal'.

Scientists have already called for the return of face masks because of the spin-off strain — yet to be officially named but dubbed BA.6.

Scientists have already called for the return of face masks because of the spin-off strain — yet to be officially named but dubbed BA.6. Others, however, warned it is far too early to panic and argued that pandemic-era restrictions won't be needed. Covid hospitalisation rates are already starting to shoot up, sparking concern that the UK is on the brink of being hit by another wave

In a tweet, Dr Trisha Greenhalgh, a primary healthcare expert at the University of Oxford, also wrote: 'My various science WhatsApp groups are buzzing. Genetic lineage clips and diagrams flying back and forth.' The professor, who is also a member of the group Independent SAGE added: 'I understand little of the detail but it looks like it's once again time to MASK UP'

Some experts have already called for masks to be reintroduced

Scientists have suggested Brits may need to don masks again as a new variant of Covid-19 is recorded in multiple countries.

Dubbed BA.X, online virus trackers have found the virus in Denmark and Israel, although this has not yet been independently verified.

Some scientists are already calling for new measures to be introduced – but others say it is too early to determine whether the variant could lead to another pandemic.

Dr Trisha Greenhalgh, an internationally-renowned expert in primary care, based at the University of Oxford, tweeted: “It looks like it’s once again time to MASK UP”.

Meanwhile, Professor Christina Pagel, a mathematician from University College London who sits on Independent SAGE, said: “To everyone else — very very early days but this coronavirus variant (now in 2 countries) has a LOT of new mutations that makes it v different to previous Omicron strains.”

It has been dubbed “BA.X” for now until it is clear where the variant has come from, said Canadian evolutionary biologist T. Ryan Gregory.

After launching the Spanish Flu to administer lethal doses of vaccine to cover up radiation damage, they had to leave it a 100 years before trying the scam again. While there are many gullible people still, I think the time span is too short, so it won't be so easy next time! Many have woken up since, not only that they have killed many of their own supporters who rushed to take the vax!

That all makes sense to me newensign, it is an optimistic view too which I always favour

I think that you a probably correct too, I certainly hope that you are
